

THE CORRELATES OF STATE POLICY PROJECT

Updates in Version 2.6

Changes in this Update

- This update includes 71 new variables primary sources.
- This update maintains complete citation coverage. Each variable in the dataset is accompanied the relevant plain text and BIBTEX citations. Please contact us if your work is not properly attributed. The R package and web application can both export plain text and BIBTEX citations for the specific variables that you use. Please properly cite any data from CSPP that you use.
- This update removes a number of variables that are duplicates or that rely on the same data source.

Resources

- The data is available to download here: <http://ippsr.msu.edu/public-policy/correlates-state-policy>
- We created an accompanying R package and web application to simplify the use of this data. Both tools allow users to easily access, search (by keyword or category), subset, and visualize the data. They can both also export plain text and BIBTEX, citations for the specific variables that you use.

introcat1pot	2010-2016	This variable captures the number of medical marijuana related bills that were introduced that fall under the first category. The first category includes proposals that back nullification in the traditional sense by either explicitly questioning the constitutionality of a national law or declaring it "null and void" within the state.	Olson, Adam, Timothy Callaghan, and Andrew Karch. 2018. "Return of the "rightful remedy": Partisan federalism, resource availability, and nullification legislation in the American states." Publius: The Journal of Federalism 48(3): 495-522.

introcat2pot	2010-2016	This variable captures the number of medical marijuana related bills that were introduced that fall under the second category. The second category includes proposals that vow “non-acquiescence” to a national statute, pledging not to cooperate with its provisions but stopping short of declaring the measure unconstitutional.	Olson, Adam, Timothy Callaghan, and Andrew Karch. 2018. “Return of the “rightful remedy”: Partisan federalism, resource availability, and nullification legislation in the American states.” Publius: The Journal of Federalism 48(3): 495-522.
introcat3pot	2010-2016	This variable captures the number of medical marijuana related bills that were introduced that fall under the third category. This category includes proposals that are partly inconsistent with existing national law. Typically procedural in nature, these proposals generally permit state cooperation with a national statute but attempt to reset the terms on which such participation occurs. They are inconsistent with the extant legal framework, but they work within it rather than rejecting it wholesale.	Olson, Adam, Timothy Callaghan, and Andrew Karch. 2018. “Return of the “rightful remedy”: Partisan federalism, resource availability, and nullification legislation in the American states.” Publius: The Journal of Federalism 48(3): 495-522.
